

INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITY

U.S. Department of Transportation • Office of the Secretary

WHY WORK FOR US?

Transportation impacts every facet of American life, providing people access to work, school, loved ones, and nature's rich bounty. The U.S. Department of Transportation is committed to transportation excellence and strives to create the best possible integrated air, land, and sea transportation system for America. As a DOT employee, you will become a part of a dedicated workforce who work day-to-day to make measurable improvements in our transportation system, the security of our nation, and the quality of American life.

MAJOR DUTIES

The employee serves as an IT Specialist intern for the Office of the CIO. Openings include:

IT Operations Specialist: Working with networking, cybersecurity operations and remediation, continuous network monitoring, project management, server operations, email management, customer service, and communications.

Technology Evaluation Engineer: Working to identify, test, and integrate new products and services. Work will include refining and documenting the instructions, processes, and procedures associated with tests. Interns will evaluate, rank, and integrate new technologies and solutions into the DOT production environment.

Web and New Media Developer: Working to perform day-to-day maintenance activities on the web as part of a larger development team. Interns will also research, develop, and implement New Media functionalities.

KNOWLEDGE REQUIREMENTS

Successful candidates will be pursuing an advanced degree in Information Systems, Computer Science, or a related field and should have a basic understanding of Information Technology concepts.
